THE LEGION SMOKER

Close to a hundred members of the Canadian Legion and their guests gathered in the Memorial Hall last Friday evening to celebrate the 18th signing of the Armistice. R. E. Goss, assisted by W. Tew, J. P. Broad, W. J. McKean and W. Wright gave a further demonstration of how well a repast for this occasion can be managed. W. Gray as chairman welcomed the assembly, and introduced the speaker of the evening, Alex Walker, Dominion Representative of the Provincial Council. Mr. Walker is no stranger to Strathmore, and his address for this occasion was in a new vein. Being one of the small party who formed the advance guard for the Vimy Pilgrimage, he was able to give many details of how the trip was arranged, and having the opportunity to cover more ground ahead of time was able to get better impressions of the country and people, which he gave a graphic account.

Without making an effort to do so, Mr. Walker made a strong case for the futility and uselessness of war, when he pictured for his listeners many Memorials to the fallen, the vast cemeteries, beautifully kept with thousands of graves, many with unknown soldiers.

Closing his address he stated in his opinion, if the youth of different lands could visit with each other and thus get to better understanding there would be no need to fear for future wars, and peace would be the desire of all nations.

The toast to the guests was ably given by A. D. Shrimpton and wittily responded to by T. S. Hughes. Other guests who called upon the humorous talks on current events. The concert party engaged, having been unable to come at the last minute, did not start the entertainment of the evening for all made merry, and it was well into the morning when those participating parted their way home.

THE WORLD OF WHEAT

(By H. G. L. Strange)

Director "Crop Testing Plan"

"Canadian wheat is not generally suited to the British market." Such was the opinion of a leading British Crop Merchant concerning wheat from Eastern Canada in 1822. " Manitoba No. 1 Hard is the highest quality wheat in the world! "

But this was the opinion of the British Grain Trade in 1876 when the first shipment of wheat left Western Canada.

What put this extra quality or "strength" into Western wheat in 1875 and what has maintained it there ever since?

It is the result of probably tens of thousands of years of steady cultivation in our prairie soil, coupled with much sunshine, and a small annual rainfall which, while sufficient to produce a fair yield of the crop, is not heavy enough to wash the previous nutrients out of the soil.

As well it is the result of the activities of countless millions of workers, the micro-organisms that live in the soil which transform the fertile humus and other elements into quality making "soup," rich in nitrates, that in turn makes protein available to the plant.

All wheat varieties can absorb this rich "soup," but only a few particular varieties, it seems, are able to transform it into quality or "strength." The following factors have tended recently to push wheat prices up: Italy continues to import wheat freely—Denmark converts from corn to wheat—Seedling backward in that same and reduction in acreage expected—United States buys American corn heavily—Poland needs large imports of wheat—Expected Spain will require large quantities wheat.

Prices have tended to decline because of record winter wheat acreage in U. S. A. and crop in excellent condition—Wheat cutting in Australia now proceeding favourably—Indian rice acreage large (estimated at 15 million acres)—Demand for Canadian wheat somewhat declining—Danish countries concentrating on better manure holding export markets for hard.

(A) "The writer of this article would be glad to answer any question within his ability, that farmers or others might care to submit."

Address inquiries to: H. G. L. Strange, Director "Crop Testing Plan," Room 257 Grain Exchange Building, Winnipeg.

The Annual School Oral Oratorical Contest for Grades 7 and 8 will be held Friday, November 27th in the Memorial Hall.

This is an annual event of much interest. A large number of contestants are competing this year which will add to the interest and no doubt bring a variety of oratory. The judges are Revs. Forster, Gilbert and Wilton. Friday, November 27th, all roads will lead to the Oratorical Contest.

ARMISTICE SERVICE

FITTING TESTIMONY

A large congregation assembled in the Memorial Hall Sunday on the occasion of the Annual Armistice Day Service.

The entire service was a fitting tribute to the men who had so faithfully served their country during the years of the great war. Those who had lived to carry on in the after years as well as those who had made the supreme sacrifice.

Conducting the service were Revs. V. M. Gilbert, C. W. Wiley and J. Forster.

The singing of the old familiar hymns led by the choir, which with Mrs. Earl Gillespie at the piano found ready accord with the audience.

The solos "There is No Death" by J. R. Hand and "Nightingale" (decoration) by Mr. Patrick were each sung in a most sympathetic manner.

Rev. Forster held the close attention of the audience as he delivered a thoughtful and very feeling address. He paid high tribute to the men who had gone forth at their country's call in the belief they were fighting the world and humanity apart from war for the future.

They had held high the torch of freedom in the hope that those who followed in the after years should not know a world of hatred, conflict and strife.

Now 19 years later the world is armed in larger numbers than ever before and suspicion among the nations reigns on every hand.

WEDDINGS

SELAND — PETERSON

One of the prettiest home weddings which has been held in Strathmore for many years was celebrated Sunday last at the home of the bride's Uncle and Aunt, Mr. and Mrs. E. W. E. Whitehouse when Norma Victoria Peterson, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. Peterson of Rowley became the bride of Mr. Trygve Seland of Urum, better, the Rev. V. M. Gilbert officiating.

Under a huge wedding bell with white streamers festooned to form a white canopy the bridal party stood. To the strains of the Wedding Music played by the bride's sister Barbara, the bride entered the living room on the arm of her father.

Choosing for the occasion a blue velvet gown cut on floor length lines, gold sandals and carrying a bouquet of pink sweet heart roses, the tall slender bride made a very attractive picture.

Miss Bernice Whitehouse, cousin of the bride, was bridesmaid. Bernice looked very winsome in a gown of orchid shade satin, of floor length, gold sandals and carrying a bouquet of pink sweet heart roses.

Mr. Seland performed the duties of best man for his brother, Mr. McNeill of Calgary sang, "I Love You Truly." Following the ceremony the happy couple received the felicitations of their friends.

A buffet luncheon was served, the bride's table being very attractively adorned with a lovely lace cloth, over the polished table. A three tier wedding cake occupied the place of honor flanked on either side by white calligraphic tapers in silver cases. Sharing the honors at the tea and coffee were Mrs. McNeill of Calgary and Mrs. T. E. Wright. Assisting as servers were Misses Maud and Mildred Marcum, Helen, Jonathan Helen Shrimpton and Bernice Whitehouse.

The toast to the bride was very happily proposed by Mr. T. E. Wright and brightly responded to by the groom.

Mrs. Peterson chose for her daughter's wedding a becoming gown of black percale. Her corsage was of pink roses and fern. Pink and Mauve Mums were very effectively used throughout the room.

For her going away costume Mrs. Seland wore a smart, swapper suit with fur trimmed top coat of blue and had to match. The honeymoon will be spent in Banff and on their return will reside in Drumheller where Mr. Seland is connected with the C. N. R. The happy young couple were the recipient of a large number of very beautiful gifts. The Silver and Gold tokens best wishes for much happiness.

TUDOR

It is true the grass grows thick and long on our main street, that is, presuming that we have a main street. It is true, too, that we have neither church, hotel or beauty parlour. But we do have a hall, a library, a newspaper stand, and we do have new arrivals. The latest addition to our list of new citizens is Clifford, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Glenclair. Young Clifford weighed 8 lbs. 2 ounces at birth. He is not quite ready to take on Joe Louis, but for a year or so. For the time being, he will be content to spar a few rounds with his contemporary, Miss Thelma La Rue Brown.

Our revels now are ended. These our actors,
As I foretold you: were all spirits and
Are melted into air, into thin air:
And, like the baseless fabric of this vision,
The cloud-capped towers, the gorgeous palaces, the temples, the great girdles dust,
Yea, all which inherit, shall dissolve
And, like this insubstantial pageant titled,
Leave not a rack behind. We are such stuff
As dreams are made on, and our little life
Is rounded with a sleep.
(Shakespeare—The Tempest Act IV Scene I)

Only the scholar can realize how little that is being said and thought in the modern world is in any sense new. It was the colossal triumph of the Greeks and Romans out of the great thinkers of the Middle Ages to sound the depths of almost every problem which human nature has to offer, and to interpret human thought and human aspirations with astounding profundity and insight. Unhappily these deep-flying facts which should be controlling in the life of a civilized people with a historical background, are known only to a few, while the many grasp, now at an ancient and well-demonstrated falsehood and now at an old and well-proved truth, as if each had all the attractions of novelty.

Nicholas Murray Butler, President of Columbia University.
Give me your tired your poor,
Your huddled masses yearning

The Wretched refuse of your teeming

Send these, the homeless, the tempest lost, to me.
I lift my lamp beside the golden door.

Will the Act Function?

The people of Alberta are entitled to judge for themselves the unfairness and injustice of The Reduction and Settlement of Debts Act. This is the first of a series of short statements concerning the Act, and its effect on you.

Will the Act function? Be it just or unjust, will it work? There are cases pending in the Courts in which the question of the validity of the Act is raised. Until the decision of the Courts is rendered, it is natural that lending companies cannot be expected in the meantime to prejudice their rights. Companies have been and are still prepared, regardless of what the decision of the Courts may be, to enter upon negotiations and explore all avenues in an effort to arrive at arrangements fair to debtor and creditor, a course which was recently followed by companies doing business in the Province of Saskatchewan.

Debtors should think over their position, and the doubtful security the Act might provide, before brushing aside the undertakings they entered into when they obtained their loans. Those who are not debtors should think what their position will be in a community where promises are lightly cast aside. If you cannot trust your neighbor—if your neighbor cannot trust you—what becomes of security and the basis upon which business and all other human relationships rest?

This statement is one of a series written by The Mortgage Loans Association of the Province of Alberta. The Association is composed of 34 member companies. It represents hundreds of thousands of small investments by typical Canadians. Its loans to citizens of Alberta amount to some forty-five million dollars.

(The second statement in this series will be published in two weeks.)

MOVE TOWARDS INTERNATIONAL PEACE

Washington, Nov. 9.—President Roosevelt sped America's delegation off to the Buenos Aires peace conference with remarks which bring foreign policy abruptly into the forefront of national attention and strongly indicate a new and dramatic emphasis during the coming four years on international diplomacy at the "White House."

Declared the latest development is a report of last spring that he is turning over in his mind the possibility of bringing the heads of the world around a conference table once, through intimate personal contact, they might achieve a new atmosphere of world peace.

That project was ridiculed by experts when it first appeared and it still seems absurd today to think that even Mr. Roosevelt's persuasive power ever could bring Joseph Stalin and Adolph Hitler into the same room. But there are new factors now which make it impossible to dismiss quite so lightly the almost incredible optimism of that project.

One of these new factors is the vote of confidence Mr. Roosevelt received at the polls. A prominent foreign policy commentator here has stated that as a result he is "the most powerful factor for peace in the world today." He unquestionably enjoys a prestige in the world which few heads of states ever attain. He has the power to make himself heard and heeded abroad. And he is known to desire to be heard, and to make use of this new prestige in world affairs.

What form this desire will take cannot be charted yet in detail. But the words with which he sped his Secretary of State, Cordell Hull, on the latter's errand of peace to Buenos Aires are highly significant. Mr. Roosevelt said, "I hope with all my heart that the forthcoming conference will give renewed hope and courage to the war-weary people of the world by demonstrating to them that the source of armed conflict can and will be eliminated from the Western Hemisphere."

monstrating to them that the source of armed conflict can and will be eliminated from the Western Hemisphere."

Hopes to Sail Nov. 17
At the same time, he let it be known that unless domestic conditions make it impossible he will sail November 17 to participate himself in the opening of the Buenos Aires conference, thereby giving a promise to that conference which it never otherwise could achieve.

In these two incidents is an emphasis on world peace and world understanding which is a new feature of the Roosevelt Administration. During the past four years, Mr. Roosevelt's attention has been devoted almost exclusively to domestic affairs. Foreign affairs he has left mostly in the hands of his Secretary of State. In fact, Mr. Hull has constructed a foreign policy which today stands as one of the most universally applauded accomplishments of the Administration.

America Gains Respect
America today enjoys more respect and more good will abroad than it has in many years. Mr. Hull's trade policy has been heralded at Geneva as one of the great contributions to world peace of the decade. Latin American relations are unquestionably better than at any time since the nation to the south were first terrified by the onward march of American imperialism. In other words, Mr. Hull has provided a solid foundation for an adventure in world affairs.

TIGHTENING BELTS IN GERMANY

Hitler's new four year plan is calculated to cause food-loving Germans to tighten their belts a little more in order to make Germany self-sufficient in food. Germany is short of food today, and there has been some grumbling, but the great majority are willing to sacrifice in order that the Hitler plan of building up a third Reich may achieve success. Such food as milk, meat, pork and lard is scarce, and costly in Germany these days. The government has control over all questions affecting raw materials, and General Goering has been given dictatorial power to deal with the food problem. Germany will not import any food that she can possibly do without.
